

Biosketch

Nathan A. Schachtman (A.B. 1975, Rutgers College; J.D. magna cum laude 1982, Rutgers School of Law) is a lawyer with over 40 years of experience in litigating products liability cases involving asbestos and pharmaceuticals. Nathan has published and lectured widely on medical causation, screening, and expert witness and historian testimony. From 2009 to 2018, he was a lecturer at the Columbia Law School, where he taught statistics in the law. He is an elected member of the American Law Institute, and a fellow of the American Bar Foundation. Nathan maintains a blog, Tortini, at <https://schachtmanlaw.com>, where there is also a biography, and complete list of publications, presentations, and notable cases tried and appeals argued.